How my experience contributes to the work	I, as a lecturer, have been teaching different folklore and literature courses including both oral and written literature, language and cultural courses at Jimma Teachers' Training College and Jimma University, Ethiopia, since 2006 and 2013 respectively. I have participated in the community service projects as both student and instructor in collaboration with various stockholders. I was brought up in a community rich in indigenous wisdom and was taught language, literature, culture and how to deal with social crisis situation through storytelling/oral narration. Consequently, I hope my experience, qualification and professional expertise will contribute to the offering of the teaching intended.
